

The Analysis Components

In the following we will present to you all components you might encounter in an analysis. Please note that only their meaning as well as how to use them for dynamic filtering will be briefly explained. For a detailed description including their configuration please refer to Creating, Editing and Sharing Analyses.