

The Area Chart

The Area Chart is basically a Line Chart except that the area below the line is filled with color. Like the Line Chart, the Area Chart is very helpful when displaying a distribution over time but can be used for any other dimension as well. Figure 2.19 shows an example for an Area Chart. Since its functionality equals that of the Line Chart and Time Series Chart, please refer to these articles for further information.

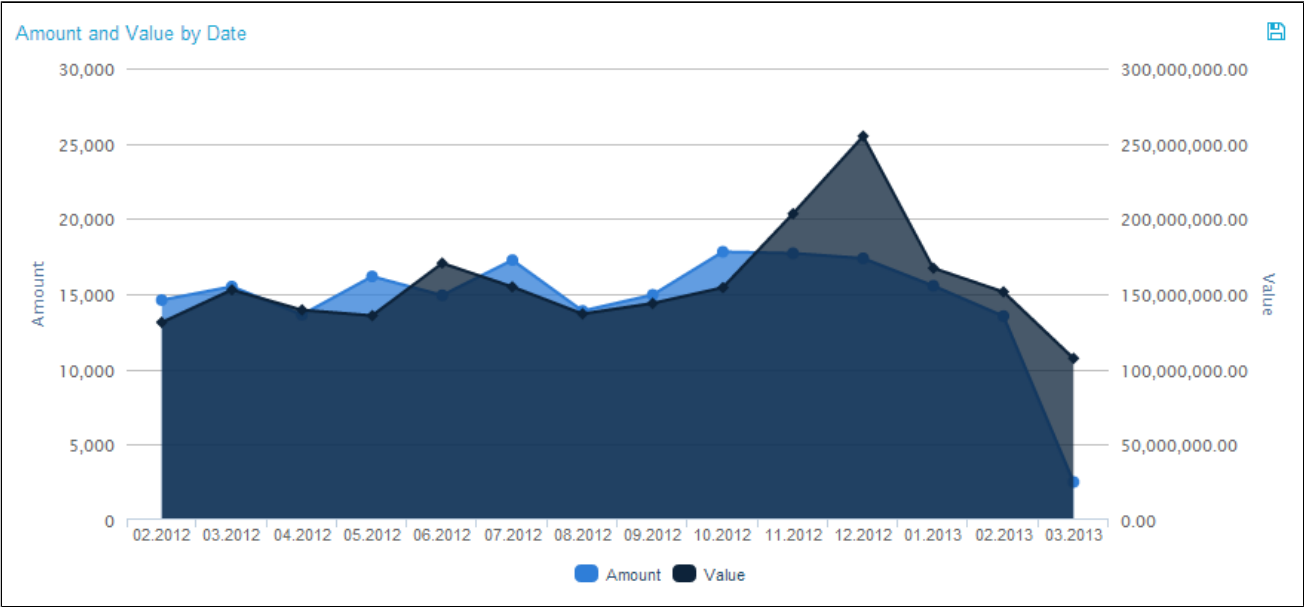

Figure 2.19: Area Chart